Statement of Commitment to Graduate Medical Education

The Lebanese American University, through the School of Medicine and Medical Centers, is dedicated to graduate skilled, professional, and compassionate specialists who are well equipped to deliver safe and excellent patient care while being socially responsible and cognizant of the context within which they practice. The LAU School of Medicine is committed to provide the Graduate Medical Education (GME) programs with all the necessary support needed to fulfill that mission. The provision of appropriate resources includes:

- Hiring and supporting a sufficient number of qualified GME staff in compliance with the ACGMEI requirements.
- Empowering leadership by providing protected time and financial support for the Designated Institutional Officer (DIO) and Program Directors to perform their educational and administrative duties.
- Providing residents/ fellows access to adequate educational resources at the institution's libraries.

Finally, and in alignment with the LAU GME mission, the DIO and the GME committee are committed to overseeing LAU's different GME programs, ensuring adherence to ACGMEI's institutional, foundational, and common program requirements.
